ALBION — A revamped push to market Orleans County for outside development has earned the Orleans Economic Development Agency international recognition.

The OEDA announced Thursday that it has received a Davey Award for creative excellence in the use of video and motion graphics on its website.

The award takes a page from the biblical account of the battle between David and Goliath, honoring small agencies who succeed with “big ideas, rather than stratospheric budgets.”

For the EDA, the sling and rock they have is video promoting the ease of doing business in the area and project sites in the county.

Earlier this year, the agency has won a Telly Award for its branding work and a W3 Award for its website.
